

Den Donnelly

Secretary

Den was diagnosed with lipoedema in 2013, at the age of 62, after a lifetime of trying to find out what was wrong with her legs. Much of her working life has been in the field of learning disability, involved in both education and day care, as well as in the provision of advocacy services. Prior to her recent retirement, she worked as a health complaints advocate and is passionate about all patients having choice and involvement in their health care.
